

I am totally against allowing greater concentration of media control. I can't see how lifting the current ban is any good for this country. I see it as a few giant greedy corporations controlling America's information. Also, since I've been following this story I haven't read anything telling us how lifting the ban would have any benefits, except for a few corporations to have monopolies. It seems it already is that way for radio stations so we have the same formats all across the country. To lift the ban is an undermining of our democracy all because of insiders having too much influence.

Thank you,
Jim Schwarting